

CEO National Heavy Vehicle Regulator

We are seeking a highly skilled individual with the ability to build organisational capability and set a clear future direction for the NHVR. You will possess highly developed communication skills and a proven ability to build productive relationships with both internal and external stakeholders. You will have experience in working with governments across jurisdictional boundaries gained from a role in either government, industry associations or the heavy vehicle sector as well as a track record of senior management in governance and regulatory environments. This is an exciting opportunity for a senior executive to establish and develop this new body and shape the industry.

The NHVR is an independent body, based in Brisbane, Queensland, and was established in January 2013.

The main focus of the NHVR is to enhance the safety and productivity of the heavy vehicle sector by streamlining decision making, reducing red tape and simplifying the regulatory environment for operators, whilst fostering greater safety.

The CEO will be accountable for:

- Administering the Heavy Vehicle National Law;
- Efficiency and effectiveness of national business systems, procedures and processes;
- Delivering regulatory activities;
- Enhancing reporting frameworks and national operating procedures; and
- Undertaking industry liaison and consultation to implement educational programs and other related initiatives.

This role reports to a governing Board, chaired by the Hon Bruce Baird AM.

For a confidential discussion regarding the position please contact Manager Human Resources, Robyn Pearson on 07 3309 8548.

Please contact Recruitment on 02 6274 6161 or recruitment@infrastructure.gov.au to obtain the application pack. You are required to submit your application to recruitment@infrastructure.gov.au by close of business 5 April 2014.